Dear Industry Partner,

We are pleased to announce that the Construction in Indian Country (CIIC) Student Endowment Golf Tournament has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 7, 2024, at the Papago Golf Club in Phoenix, Arizona. Papago Golf Club is conveniently located, showcases Arizona's natural beauty and is the home course of ASU's championship Sun Devils Women's and Men's golf teams!

CIIC 20th Annual Student Endowment Golf Tournament provides scholarship funding for American Indian construction management students. The annual fund raiser brings the construction industry together for a day of fun, networking, and student engagement.

On behalf of CIIC, our students, and staff we thank you for considering the sponsorship opportunities for this event, which ultimately is an investment in our native students. Now more than ever, students rely on scholarships to fund higher education while minimizing student debt. We hope these students return to their communities as CIIC has the goal of "Growing our own."

Since 2003, this event has financially supported American Indian students and has disbursed over $515,000 in scholarship funds to American Indian construction management students. CIIC continues to support the American Indian students enrolled in the Del E. Webb School of Construction as they endeavor to earn bachelor's degrees in construction management.

The page that follows provides sponsorship levels and investment amounts. Please visit <https://ciic.construction.asu.edu/golf-tournament-registration/> for more information.

If you have questions regarding sponsorship, please contact Simon Roberts at Simon@asu.edu or call him at 480-965-2425. I am also available to answer questions that you may have.

Thank you,
